

Negative & Positive Aspects Of

The Circle Of Life & You

by Rahsmariah V. Bey

You Spring forth (♈) with life and vigor, glad to be here. A place is provided for you (♁) so you can think and communicate who you are (♀). That place is home (☁) wherein you cultivate, and, are cultivated. Here your self origins lay. In the early stages of self origins your ability to think and communicate are affected one way or another—good or bad. You are empowered with the authority to create or, your creations are stunted (♁). Now you begin to analyze (♁) what has been sowed, and how you will serve self and others. All that is sowed will be reaped— The crop is you! You unite your surroundings, your deeds, passions and actions and balance them (♁) equally, fairly, with justice. But desire takes its place (♁). Your desires are representative of the inner you and they point directly to what you will aspire for (♁). At your final review, (♁) you determine how and what you will utilize from the crop of self. You are left with goods, spoiled or fruitful. Now you must share (yourself) with the world (♁). You pour your being onto and into the outside world which has to deal with you good or bad. You can't help but to do so, as you are part of humanity. Once you have exposed yourself to the world, it is necessary for you to recoil back into your own self doing or undoing (♁) into the recuperative waters to perfect self and be born again.
